We must not allow this awful crime to separate the military family in Woolwich

FOLLOWING the tragic events in Woolwich on Wednesday last week, GT has received scores of letters. They've come from civic, community and faith leaders as well as ordinary members of the public. While offering their sympathies to the family, friends and colleagues of Drummer Rigby, they also call for unity and peace amongst the many nations that live in the royal borough. Here is a selection, more on p4&5.

● DRUMMER Lee Rigby was in London reaching out to young men and women who want to serve their country by joining the Armed Forces. This was a job he loved doing, and he was very good at it. He was killed while travelling home from that job, and our thoughts are with his loved ones, and with his mates. The Army has made a home in Woolwich for almost 300 years, and our history is shared with the local community that supports us. That support was demonstrated across London recently during the Olympic Games, and in Woolwich last autumn by the thousands of people who lined the streets to welcome the King's Troop Royal Horse Artillery from St John's Wood. Drummer Rigby was proud to live and work in this community, as are all the soldiers who are based here. The best tribute we can pay him is to not allow this awful crime to separate the military family in Woolwich from the fantastic support we get from our friends and neighbours across the borough. I would like to thank the local people and their community leaders for their messages of condolence and their continued support.

Ltd Lieutenant Colonel Bob Christopher MBE RA, Commander Woolwich Station

● ON behalf of the club, I would like to offer our deepest condolences to the family and friends of Mr Rigby. We hugely value our relationship with Woolwich Barracks and the soldiers stationed there. Charlton Athletic have worked closely with Woolwich Barracks and the Help for Heroes charity for several years, with soldiers regularly invited to attend the club's matches at The Valley, which is just over a mile from the barracks. The club's Community Trust also works extensively in the Royal Borough of Greenwich and will continue to help and support local partners and groups in promoting community cohesion.

Steve Bradshaw, chief operating officer, of Charlton Athletic Football Club

● THE Bahá'í community of Greenwich was shocked by the brutal and tragic murder of Drummer Lee Rigby in Woolwich on May 22nd. Our thoughts are with his family, friends and colleagues. We hope that the Rigby family will draw strength from the unity and support of communities across Greenwich. We are a vibrant community. We must together seek ways to live in harmony – with unity in diversity as our guiding principle. The people of Greenwich, of all faiths and none, of all ethnicities and backgrounds, should now honour Lee's memory by building fresh bonds of community in our borough. We stand ready to serve alongside our friends and neighbours in this goal, for the wellbeing, happiness and unity of everyone in Greenwich.

The Local Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Greenwich

● ALL of us at Shree Swaminarayan Temple in Plumstead and the wider Hindu community have been horrified by this most dreadful act. It is at times like this that the varied and diverse communities of Greenwich must unite and come together to further instil the universal values of peace, humanity and a sense of compatriotism in our society – particularly among the youth and disaffected.

We have great hope in the power of positive action and sincere prayer and as such wish that all those affected by this incident are given strength to overcome their anguish to be replaced by sanguine hope for the future.

Shree KS Swaminarayan Temple:

● ALL at Greenwich Inclusion Project would like to express their shock at the horrific events that took place in Woolwich this afternoon. Our immediate thoughts and deepest sympathies are with the family, friends and colleagues of the victim of this heinous crime. It is unthinkable that an event such as this could take place on the streets of Woolwich, an area that prides itself on its links with the armed services, particularly the army, and on its diverse and vibrant communities. As the days and weeks unfold and we all try to make sense of what has happened in our midst we must ensure that we remain calm and unite in shared condemnation of what has happened today. We must work together to isolate the voices of extremism and hatred in our midst.

In all our hearts

Drummer Lee Rigby, the 'larger than life' family man who 'would do anything for anyone'

PAYING RESPECTS: Mayor of Royal Greenwich Angela Cornforth lays a bouquet at the Army Barracks.

A RED rose and a pair of army boots. A bouquet of carnations and a heartfelt message. "R.I.P brave soldier, dream sweet dreams. Remembered always and never forgotten. Our thoughts with you and your family."

Tributes to Drummer Lee Rigby have poured in as the community, the UK and the world remembers the 25-year-old from Middleton, Manchester who was killed by two assailants in a terrorist attack on May 22.

After the road was reopened on the evening of May 23, the railings that mark the periphery of the barracks on Artillery Place were quickly covered in brightly coloured flowers, condolence cards and keepsakes.

The entrance to the barracks on Repository Road was awash with hundreds of bouquets.

Drummer Rigby was from the 2nd Battalion the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers, and had been stationed at Woolwich for two years.

He joined the army as a teenager in 2006, before he was posted to London in 2008, where he stood guard at the royal palaces as part of his battalion's public duties.

In 2009 he was called up for duty in Helmand,

Afghanistan, as a machine-gunner. It was a period that saw some of the fiercest fighting of the conflict.

Lee Rigby also went to Celle in Germany, before taking a post at the Regimental Headquarters in the Tower of London. The soldier leaves behind his wife of five years, Rebecca, and two-year-old son, Jack.

"Lee was lovely," a statement from his family said. "He would do anything for anybody, he always looked after his sisters and always protected them. He took a 'big brother' role with everyone.

"All he wanted to do from when he was a little boy, was be in the Army. "He wanted to live life and enjoy himself. His family meant everything to him. He was a loving son, husband, father, brother, and uncle, and a friend to many."

Commanding Officer of the Second Fusiliers, Lieutenant Colonel Jim Taylor MBE, added: "He was a dedicated and professional soldier. He was a real character within the Second Fusiliers. Larger than life, he was at the heart of our Corps of Drums.

"An experienced and talented side drummer and machine-gunner, he was a true warrior and served with distinction in Afghanistan, Germany and Cyprus. His ability, talent and personality made him a natural choice to work in the recruiting group. He will be sorely missed by everyone in the Second Fusiliers. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends at this incredibly difficult time. Once a Fusilier, Always a Fusilier."

A book of condolences has been opened at Woolwich Town Hall, for people to pay their respects to the soldier.

Drawing strength

Leaders of civic and faith communities from across Greenwich came together last Thursday to express their condemnation of the shocking incident which took place near the barracks at Woolwich. They agreed the following statement....

“ Our thoughts, prayers and heartfelt sympathies go out to the family, friends and colleagues of Drummer Lee Rigby. Greenwich is a borough with deep pride in our military associations and we wish to express our distress and condemnation of this criminal and shocking incident which has struck at the heart of our community. Greenwich is a strong, resilient borough and we draw strength from the way our communities have united to express their shock at the incident ”

Dr Tariq Abbasi, director of the Greenwich Islamic Centre in Woolwich, said: “The Muslims of the Greenwich Islamic Centre in the Royal Borough of Greenwich today condemn in the strongest terms the barbaric murder of a serving army officer and share the grief and sorrow of the nation. Our hearts go out to the family, colleagues and friends of the victim of this despicable and horrific tragedy.

We are all very deeply shocked and saddened to have witnessed a terrible crime in our neighbourhood.

The local Muslim community has always enjoyed an excellent relationship with people from all walks of life regardless of their religion, colour or ethnic background.”

The Rev Malcolm Torry, secretary of the Greenwich Faith Community Leaders group, and vicar of Holy Trinity Church on Greenwich Peninsula, said: “Our message is to stress how well the different faiths in the borough work together. This incident isn’t going to divide us.”

Naomi Goldberg, chief executive of Greenwich Action for Voluntary Service, said: “GAVS was appalled at the dreadful murder in Woolwich. We know that the community in Woolwich is exceptionally strong and will come together at this difficult time.”

Rev Paul Rogers, Minister of Eltham Park Baptist Church and District Minister (London Baptist Association) said: “The Baptist churches of Greenwich borough extend their heartfelt sympathies and support for the family of Drummer Lee Rigby. Community groups across the borough work exceedingly well together and we praise the response of the Police, Royal Borough and local churches in their sensitive and sensible approach to this tragic incident. We are holding the community of Woolwich in prayer at this difficult time.”

Fr Michael Branch, St Peter the Apostle Woolwich: “We unite ourselves with all faith leaders and the Civic Authority of the Royal Borough of Greenwich in expressing our total condemnation of the recent murder of Fusilier Lee Rigby. Our immediate thoughts and prayers go to his wife, son, family and friends and to all those who are based in the Woolwich Barracks. We owe a debt of deep gratitude to the Armed forces for their outstanding work and continue to assure them of our deep esteem and support. Let us continue to walk together in unity and peace as the people of Woolwich, regardless of creed, race or ethnicity, celebrating our diversity and learning from each other. Let us do what we do best in Woolwich: to continue to look after each other and to care for the most vulnerable because every one matters in Woolwich. Peace, unity and blessings.”

Revd Canon Kim Hitch, Area Dean of Charlton, Church of England, said: “The churches of the Deanery of Charlton share in the sadness felt at the atrocity in Woolwich. We pray for the family of Drummer Lee Rigby, for the community of Woolwich and the Barracks in particular. We are grateful for the strong community life in this borough, and resolve to strengthen our efforts with those of others so that we may build a neighbourhood where all may live their lives in safety, hope and peace.”

Mike Leader, Ecumenical Borough Dean in the Royal Borough of Greenwich

“The Christian Churches of Greenwich stand together with Greenwich Council and all the diverse communities in the Royal Borough in deploring the terrible attack which took place in Woolwich this week. We offer our condolences to the family and friends of Lee Rigby and are praying for them and for peace, love and understanding and hope in our community.”

Dr Tayo Adeyemi, senior minister, New Wine Church: “We pray for peace and for healing and that those who live, work and worship and learn in Woolwich will continue to collaborate together and defy the minority few who seek to instil fear, cause division and hatred, by continuing to live their lives in way that makes our community peaceful, rich, vibrant and diverse.”

Jeremy Frost, Chaplain to the Old Royal Naval College and Site Partners: “The diverse communities of Greenwich University, Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance, and the Chapel of the Old Royal Naval College, are united in their grief and shock at the evil and mindless attack that took place on Wednesday. Our thoughts and prayers are with Lee Rigby’s family, his battalion, and all at the barracks. Prayers for the Royal Borough of Greenwich will take place each day, and especially at our main service on Sunday morning.”

from unity

Gary Chin, principal, Greenwich Community College: "We were deeply shocked by the events in Woolwich on May 22 and our thoughts are with the family, friends and colleagues of Lee Rigby. As the largest education provider in the borough, we are proud of and celebrate the diversity of our student and local community. Now more than ever we need to come together with our community partners to grieve, unite and re-build."

Segun Adenuga, The Anchor for All Souls, Artillery Place, Woolwich: "Firstly our thoughts and prayers go out to the family and friends of the victim of this atrocity - Drummer Lee Rigby. It is tragic whenever a life is taken from us, and all the more so when it happens with such senselessness and with such unspeakable violence. This is a peaceful community and we saw people from all faiths and backgrounds participating as volunteers for the Olympics. We will not allow this tragedy to fracture our community spirit."

Jon Darby, Abi Willetts and the leadership of Ichthus New Life Church in East Greenwich: "Greenwich is a strong resilient borough, a place where for many years people of different ethnicities and religions live side by side."

The Rt Revd Dr Michael Ipgrave, the Bishop of Woolwich said: "I am deeply saddened and distressed to hear of the incident in John Wilson

Mayor opens book of condolence

THE new Mayor of Greenwich opened a book of condolence at Woolwich Town Hall on Friday so that people who live, work and study in the in the royal borough could express their condolences with the family of Drummer Lee Rigby. Opening hours at the town hall were extended over the Bank Holiday weekend so the public could sign the book and pay their respects. The Mayor Cllr Angela Cornforth said: "Now that the death of Drummer Lee Rigby has been confirmed we wish to express our condolences to his family and friends. Woolwich is a place born out of the Army and it runs through the DNA of the town and many of its people. "This is a place which has witnessed attacks on our armed service personnel before, not least the terrorist attack by the IRA almost 40 years ago. Then, as now, the people and communities of Woolwich have shown their pride in our armed services and respect for the role they play and the risks they undertake. "Every single soldier and their family can be assured of our enduring support in the days, weeks, months and years ahead." The Book of Condolence is open for the public to sign in Woolwich Town Hall, Wellington Street, SE18 6PW. The town hall will be open 9am - 5pm daily.

family and the local community. We hope everyone will continue to pray and reflect on this tragic incident." He presented the following extracts from a letter which the Bishops of Southwark and Woolwich, with the other Area Bishop from Croydon and Kingston, sent to all the clergy in the Diocese last Friday afternoon: "After the horrifying events of Wednesday already it is clear that those who want to make capital out of these events, for their own ends, will be drowned out by a stronger narrative of unity and hope. At this difficult time it is important that people of faith draw together and lead our communities. As you come together to pray, especially at your services on Trinity Sunday, please pray for the people of Woolwich; for the health of our city and for community relations across the country. Please pray too for Fusilier Lee Rigby, his family and friends and for all those who serve in our Armed Forces."

Calm under pressure

Parents praise school staff and head

by Dick Townsend-Smith

LIFE is starting to get back to normal for the children and teachers at Mulgrave Primary School in Rectory Place, just yards from the Woolwich murder scene.

Their world was turned upside down on Wednesday morning when the young soldier was killed in the street, leaving staff and pupils deeply shocked.

Headteacher Dr David Dixon told GT: "To have an incident of this nature take place so close to the school was very shocking for pupils, staff and parents.

"At the time, no-one knew the exact nature of the incident and whether there was the potential for further risk to children's safety. We therefore immediately put our contingency measures in place – making sure that all children were safe and helping them to stay calm, then making arrangements as soon as possible to contact parents and ensure children could safely be taken home.

"The following day our priority was to focus on ensuring children had as calm and as normal a day as possible. Parents have been very supportive of the school in this, despite the obvious shock at having such an incident take place in their community.

"Staff have been talking informally with children this morning about what happened, since when we have sought to have as normal a school day as possible. Mulgrave has very close links with the local community in Woolwich, which is diverse and harmonious, and we are determined to support local residents and community groups to remain united and calm in the days and weeks ahead."

Chair of governors Ian Taylor added: "Mulgrave is a successful and harmonious school and the school's strong and supportive ethos has clearly helped in our response to what's happened. It's clear from the comments of parents that our staff were exemplary in their response to the incident, and I would like to pay tribute to their calmness and professionalism."

Mary Quashie, whose 11-year-old son goes to Mulgrave, said: "I was really impressed with how the school responded. The way they contacted parents by phone and text so quickly was really helpful and reassuring. Then the next morning there were staff at the police barrier to welcome parents and children and to make sure everyone felt welcomed. It was very reassuring."

Cafe owner Hamsa Tezgel went to collect his 10-year-old son at 3.15pm and said: "My wife usually goes to get him but couldn't get there because the roads were cordoned off so I went. He heard the helicopter and asked what was happening. I just told him some people were arguing. He was calm and he only realised what was going on when he watched the TV news later."

The school reopened as normal the next day to its 480 three-to-11-year-olds, and the week continued with little disruption. The children were credited with staying calm, and parents said it was important to show that they supported each other in a crisis.

Mum Angela Staines, who has two boys aged four and seven at Mulgrave said: "They were more scared of what they heard and what they saw on TV. The staff kept very cool and calm and the children felt very safe. The school was wonderful, and my boys were more than happy to go back the next day."

Teaching assistant Michelle Abebrese, whose six-year-old daughter goes to the school, said: "It's been a traumatic experience, but the adults are there for all the children, and we have a fantastic school counsellor, Julie-Ann, who has been brilliant.

"Some of the children had been on their way to the library and were very close to the scene, and saw some of the commotion. She came in very early the next day and explained what had happened to them very calmly and offered them support.

"We have explained to the children that we all are one and we all support each other as one. Julie-Ann repeated what one of the attackers said about an eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth, and explained to them that it would only mean more misery. The children are coping far better than I thought they would, and I'm sure they will be fine."

Police still appealing for eyewitnesses to come forward

What did you see?

EMERGENCY SERVICE: (above) a helicopter ambulance tries to find a place to land, and below, police close the road to the murder scene

LOCAL police are still appealing for footage or images of last Wednesday's attack on a soldier from Woolwich Barracks.

People are asked to submit anything they have to help with the ongoing investigations.

Meanwhile, there was an extra police presence in Greenwich when 1,200 more police were drafted in across the capital last week.

Officers were working around the clock and carrying out a range of activities including extra patrols at key locations such as religious venues, transport hubs and busy areas.

Borough commander Richard Wood said: "I know that everyone is shocked by the events that have unfolded in Woolwich. My officers and I are working around the clock together with colleagues across the Met to ensure that we keep Greenwich safe.

"There is increased police presence across the borough and indeed in the whole of London, with 1,200 extra officers on duty. We are conducting extra patrols and responding quickly to all policing needs across the borough."

And he reassured locals and thanked them saying: "We want people to be alert but I would like to personally ask you to stay calm and show solidarity.

"Lastly, my officers and I want to say a big thank you to those of you who have come forward and assisted us and for all the supportive messages we have received so far."

partnership with Hadlow College, a Kent-based training centre.

College managers held a preview event to equestrian industry insiders, funders and local people earlier this month.

Cllr Denise Hyland, the royal borough's cabinet member for regeneration, economy and skills said: "The college and the courses on offer continue to build on the excitement of the Olympic and Paralympic equestrian events in Greenwich last summer. It's an exciting and innovative facility for all royal borough residents, who want to learn more about working with horses for a career or just for general interest and I urge local people to find out more at the drop in event."

The centre is currently registering potential college or degree level students for a September start.

TfL agreed to refer the final decision to a board meeting in July, when plans for the fit-out of the station box are expected to be signed off. The box is the result of a deal between Berkeley Homes, the royal borough, Transport for London, the Transport Department and Crossrail. Once complete it will provide a vital link giving local people direct access to London and the west right out to Heathrow and Maidenhead with 12 trains an hour from south-east London.

Support with staying safe

A SPECIAL two weeks of activities are being planned to help people who are vulnerable or at risk – or know people who they think might be.

The programme called Safe From Harm will run from June 3 to 16. It will include special events supported by local groups and organisations. In particular, domestic violence, substance misuse and parental mental illness will be put under the spotlight.

The fortnight will be officially launched in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, on June 3 where people can check out information stalls and talk with counselling experts.

There will also be a free salsa dancing class, which will be shown on the big screen.

Several sessions will also take place in children's centres, where parents can learn what to do if they are concerned about a particular child's welfare.

Other events include a session on domestic violence and civil family laws at the Her Centre in Brookhill Road, Woolwich, on Tuesday, June 4, and an afternoon for young people aged between 14 and 24 at the Market Street Health Centre, Woolwich, to talk about the effects of drugs and alcohol on sexual behaviour. An information stand about adult and children safeguarding will be in the foyer of Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Woolwich, from June 3 to 16.

Kay Bell, chair of the Greenwich Safeguarding Children Board, said: "It's the first time we've had an event like this in Greenwich. It's a joint venture with agencies working with both adults and children. For us it's about how agencies work within the borough to keep children safe. There will be events for members of the public, and also be events for professionals, like social workers, doctors and the police, who will come along to share experiences, and look at the challenges they face to keep children safe."

Save energy in 2nd switch over

NEARLY 1,800 people in Greenwich are cutting their energy bills after signing up for the Big London Energy Switch – the scheme that gives better deals on gas and electricity bills through buying in bulk.

And residents have a few more days to The scheme, backed by the royal borough, gives groups bigger bargaining power to approach the energy companies to get better deals on their energy tariffs. In the borough, nearly three-quarters of the people who signed up will be able to save an average of £122 a year.

Across London more than 26,000 people have already registered. A second opportunity to join the scheme has just begun. And residents have until June 3 to register.

Cllr Harry Singh, the royal borough's cabinet member for Greener Greenwich, said: "We are committed to helping our residents save money, particularly in the current economic climate. The Big London Energy Switch is one way local people can make excellent savings on their energy bills – I encourage everyone to visit our website or talk to one of our advisers and see whether this scheme can save them money on bills."

● To register or for information visit www.biglondonenergyswitch.org.uk or call a royal borough energy efficiency adviser on 020 8921 5297.

Quick replies for volunteers

AN event that gives quick answers to people who want to volunteer to help local organisations and projects is being held at Woolwich Town Hall on Wednesday June 5 between 11am and 3pm. Called 'Speed Volunteering' it will provide rapid information on how, where and when people can help. It's part of a week-long event by Volunteer Centre Greenwich from June 1-7 to thank people who have given up their time previously. An all-day launch event will be in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, on Saturday June 1 from 10.30am-3.30pm; while Monday June 3 will see events at local train stations from 7am to 9am, followed by another event at Asda Charlton on Thursday, June 6 from 10am to 3.30pm.

The Big London ENERGY SWITCH

A scheme to help Londoners get a better deal on their gas and electricity bills

Are you paying too much for your gas and electricity?

How does the scheme work?

-  The Big London Energy Switch is a collective switching scheme being run by the Royal Borough of Greenwich and a number of other councils in London
-  By gathering together a large number of people who want to lower their gas and electricity bills the Big London Energy Switch, using a third party 'switching provider', can encourage energy companies to offer their lowest prices
-  Once registration is closed, all the energy companies are invited to offer their best prices to everyone who registered
-  You will then receive details of exactly how much money you could potentially save by switching if you accept the offer
-  You can choose to accept the offer or not
-  Almost 1,800 Greenwich residents registered for the first round of the Big London Energy Switch in April, with 71% of registrants able to save money, and an average household saving of £122 per year.

To find out more or to register go to www.biglondonenergyswitch.org.uk or call 020 8921 5297.
The deadline for registration is June 3 2013.

Tragedy will

SHOCKED local people spoke of their horror at the murder in Woolwich last week, but said the tragedy would unite the community – not divide it.

Floral tributes were left at the junction of John Wilson Street, and residents gathered at the police cordon on Wellington Street, the day after the tragedy.

Deborah McConville, 48, who lives on Frances Street told GT: "It's shocking, I can't believe it happened here. Terrible. But it's not a reflection of the area. Woolwich is strong enough to get through this, and I know that because I've lived here all my life."

Laying flowers at the scene, Klaus Wilks, said: "There are a lot of people upset about it, but I think Woolwich will pull together. There's a lot of different minorities, but everyone is talking about it, talking together."

The 30-year-old added: "I was in the town centre when it happened, and it seemed like every police car in Woolwich was going up there, then I heard the helicopters overhead. There were differing accounts of what was going on."

Abdul Ali, 57, who lives on John Wilson Street said: "It was a really big shock. I've lived here since 1982 and I've never seen anything like it."

Across the road at Sai News, Jay Patel - who's run the shop for 20 years - said: "I was talking to a Muslim guy in the shop earlier who was absolutely furious about it, saying that it would reflect badly on all Muslims."

Police Borough Commander for Greenwich, Richard Wood told GT: "We're trying to reassure people. We had a community meeting last night [May 22], and what came out of that was that everybody's working together in the community. This was a criminal act, committed by individual criminals as opposed to any sections of the community, so the important thing is people work together to continue the good community relations we have. Having worked in this community for four years, time and time again people have pulled together, and they will do again on this occasion."

LAYING FLOWERS:

not divide us

“The community has to be strong and not let this divide us”

ENGINEERS who work on the Woolwich Ferry were among the first to lay floral tributes in honour of Drummer Lee Rigby last Thursday.

The group of 24 came to deliver a bouquet of red, white and blue flowers during their dinner break.

Sixty-two-year-old Len Bellamy said: “We feel very passionate about this and very sad that it happened on our doorstep. The barracks are a major part of the community, you often see the King’s Troop horses out for a run and it brings a lump to your throat. “We all support the Help for Heroes charity and we’ll be wearing our Help for Heroes T-shirts off duty. This event will make us more vigilant but it won’t divide us, instead it will make us stronger.”

Mum-of-three Noe Moyo has a 23-year-old nephew in the army and came to present flowers with her young daughter. She told GT: “It’s just a tragedy for our town and it touched me. My nephew was at these barracks and I visited him there.”

She added: “He has been to Afghanistan two times. These boys have been there to make peace and then they come back to see this. It’s so sad that the people protecting us are attacked in our area. My daughter was scared but I’ve brought her here to reassure her that we still have the police looking after us and the community.”

Thirty-nine year old Louise Verral who lives in army barracks-housing handed her floral tribute to a policeman. The mum-of-five said her boys often played football with the soldiers.

“I wanted to show support - it’s terrible that they go away and fight, come home and something like this happens. People are getting Help for Heroes T-shirts to show their support.”

Bhagwant Singh led a 10-strong contingent from the Ramgarhia Gurdwara Sikh temple in Plumstead.

He said: “We wanted to show our sympathy, everyone is sad that something like this should happen - especially in this county. We are a peace-loving people and the community has raised the flag and is keeping its head high.”

A woman passer-by said: “We should be proud of our troops - they helped to make the Olympics.”

Salesman Anuth Prasai, 24, said: “The community has to be strong and not let this divide us.”

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1) TEMPORARY ROAD CLOSURE - STOWAGE

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the Royal Borough of Greenwich intends to make an Order to accommodate electricity works in Stowage. The effect of the Order would be to temporarily prohibit vehicles from entering, exiting, proceeding or waiting (including waiting for the purposes of loading or unloading) in Stowage, between the eastern kerb-line of Deptford Green and the western kerb-line of Gosson Street.
2. The above restrictions would only apply at such times and to such extent as shall be indicated by the placing of the appropriate traffic signs.
3. Whilst the closure is in operation, the alternative route for vehicles would be signed via local diversion signs and would be via Millman Street, Deptford Green, Creek Road and Gosson Street.
4. The Order would come into force on 4th June 2013 and would continue in force for up to 18 months, or until the works have been completed, whichever is the sooner. However, it is expected that the works would take two weeks to complete.
5. Queries concerning these works should be directed to the Royal Borough of Greenwich's Directorate of Regeneration, Enterprise & Skills on 020 8921 6340.

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING ACT 1990 - SECTION 247 PROPOSED STOPPING UP OF PARTS OF THE HIGHWAY IN DRAWDOCK ROAD, TUNNEL AVENUE AND NEARBY LOCATIONS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the Royal Borough of Greenwich intends to make an Order under section 247 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990, entitled the Royal Borough of Greenwich (Stopping Up of Highways) (Greenwich Peninsula) Order 2013.
2. The general effect of the Order would be to authorise the stopping up of:
(a) approximately 40.00 metres of highway at the junction of Tunnel Avenue and Drawdock Road;
(b) part of the carriageway at the northern outer edge of the roundabout situated at the northern end of Millman Way at its junction with the B2 Service Access Road; and
(c) part of the footway and cycleway situated at the western end of Drawdock Road;
so as to enable the development of land to the south-west of the B2 Area to take place. The term "stopping-up" means that these areas of highway would cease to be public highway.
3. If the Order is made, the stopping-up would only be authorised in order to enable the development described in paragraph 2 to this Notice to be carried out in accordance with the planning permission granted to Media Bysta Limited on 13th February 2013. The planning application reference is 12/0590/Q and the planning permission decision reference is 12/0590/Q.
4. A copy of the proposed Order and the relevant plan are available for inspection by any person, free of charge, during normal office hours until the expiry of three normal office hours on 25th June 2013 at the Directorate of Regeneration, Enterprise and Skills, Strategic Transportation, Royal Borough of Greenwich, The Woolwich Centre, 35 Wellington Street, SE18 6HQ. These documents may be obtained free of charge on written application to the Council at the Royal Borough of Greenwich, PO Box 485, Kemp House, 152-160 City Road, London, EC1V 2NL, quoting reference POL/SUO/JB/1000001155.
5. Any person who wishes to object to the making of the proposed Order should send a statement in writing by 25th June 2013 specifying the grounds on which any objection is made, to the Council at the following address: the Royal Borough of Greenwich, PO Box 485, Kemp House, 152-160 City Road, London, EC1V 2NL, quoting reference POL/SUO/JB/1000001155.
6. Persons objecting to the proposed Order should be aware that in view of the Local Government (Access to Information) Act 1985, this Council would be legally obliged to make any comments received in response to this notice, open to public inspection.

COUNCIL ACCOUNTS: A SUMMARY OF YOUR RIGHTS

Please note that this summary applies to all smaller relevant bodies, including drainage boards and joint committees.

The basic position

By law any person interested has the right to inspect a parish council's or parish meeting's accounts. If you are entitled and registered to vote in local council elections then you (or your representative) also have the right to ask the appointed auditor questions about the council's accounts or object to an item of account contained within them.

The right to inspect the accounts

When your council has finalised its accounts for the previous financial year it must let you know that they are available for inspection. Giving your council reasonable notice of your intentions, you then have 20 working days to look through the accounting statements in the annual return and any supporting documents. By arrangement you will be able to inspect and make copies of the accounts and the relevant documents. You may have to pay a copying charge.

The right to ask the auditor questions about the accounts

You can only ask the appointed auditor questions about the accounts. The auditor does not have to answer questions about the council's policies, finances, procedures or anything else not related to the accounts. Your question must be about the accounts for the financial year just ended. The auditor does not have to say whether they think something the council has done, or an item in its accounts, is lawful or reasonable.

The right to object to the accounts

If you think that the council has spent money that they shouldn't have, or that someone has caused a loss to the council deliberately or by behaving irresponsibly, you can object to an item of account by sending a formal 'notice of objection' to the auditor at the address below. The notice must be in writing. In it, you must tell the auditor why you are objecting and what you want the auditor to do about it. The auditor must reach a decision on your objection. If you are not happy with that decision, you can appeal to the courts.

You may also object if you think that there is something in the accounts that the auditor should discuss with the council or tell the public about in a 'public interest report'. You must give your reasons in writing to the auditor at the address below and send a copy to the council. The auditor must then decide whether to take any action. The auditor does not have to, but usually will, give reasons for their decision and you cannot appeal to the courts. More information is available from the Audit Commission website (see box below).

You may not use this 'right to object' to make a personal complaint or claim against your council. You should take such complaints to your local Citizens' Advice Bureau, local Law Centre or to your solicitor. You may also be able to approach the Standards Committee of your Local authority if you believe a member of the council has broken the Code of Conduct for Members.

What else you can do

Instead of objecting, you can give the auditor information that is relevant to their responsibilities. For example, you can simply tell the auditor if you think that something is wrong with the accounts or about waste and inefficiency in the way the council runs its services. You do not have to follow any set time limits or procedures. The auditor does not have to give you a detailed report of their investigation, but they will usually tell you the outcome.

A final word

Councils, and so local taxpayers, meet the costs of dealing with questions and objections. In deciding whether to take your objection forward, one of a series of factors the auditor must take into account is the cost that will be involved. They will only continue with the objection if it is in the public interest to do so. If you appeal to the courts against an auditor's decision, you will have to pay for the action yourself.

For more detailed guidance on electors' rights and the special powers of auditors, copies of the publication Council Accounts: a guide to your rights are available by calling 0844 798 3131 or 0117 975 3131, email: publicenquiries@audit-commission.gov.uk or by download from the Audit Commission website at <http://www.audit-commission.gov.uk/about-us/contact-us/querying-council-accounts/council-accounts-a-guide-to-your-rights>.

ELTHAM CREMATORIUM JOINT COMMITTEE ACCOUNTS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 MARCH 2013 Audit Commission Act 1998, Sections 15 and 16

The Accounts and Audit (England) Regulations 2011 (SI 2011 No 817)

Each year the Committee's accounts are audited by an auditor appointed by the Audit Commission. Any person interested has the right to inspect the accounts and make copies of the annual return and all books, deeds, contract, bills, vouchers and receipts relating to the accounting statements. For the year ending 31 March 2013 these documents will be available on reasonable notice by application to:

Fiona Jump, 3rd Floor, The Woolwich Centre, Wellington Street, SE18 6HQ from Monday 10 June 2013 to Friday 5 July 2013.

Local government electors and their representatives also have:

- The opportunity to question the auditor about the accounts; and
- The right to make objections to the accounts or any item in them. Written notice of an objection must first be given to the auditor and a copy sent to the committee.

The auditor can be contacted at the address below for this purpose on 8 July 2013 and until the audit has been completed.

The audit is being conducted under the provisions of the Audit Commission Act 1998, the Accounts and Audit Regulations (England) 2011 and the Audit Commission's Code of Practice. Your audit is being carried out by:

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 341

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Royal Borough of Greenwich's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed. Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to: For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time. For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 5 June 2013 at midday and will include any Housing Association properties when available. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 2 June 2013.

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Important Notice

Changes to the rents and tenancies of some advertised housing association properties.

Affordable Housing

Currently the rent level for the properties you see advertised in Greenwich Homes is significantly lower than full market rents in private sector housing.

From now you will now be seeing some housing association properties advertised for higher rents, up to eighty percent of the market rent. These rents will also include the service charge that you will need to pay for the property. We will use the phrase Affordable Housing on the adverts to help you identify these properties.

Please note the Council will continue to advertise all the homes it owns at the standard rent level.

You can bid for properties advertised as Affordable Housing in exactly the same way as for other advertised properties. If you are successful the housing association may want to check you have enough income to pay the higher rent, whether you are working or on benefits. If you are currently a housing association tenant the rent you pay on your present home will not be affected by this change.

Fixed term tenancies

You will also notice that the tenancies for Affordable Housing and some other housing association properties may now be for a shorter period than the present lifetime tenancies offered by housing associations. The phrase Fixed term tenancy will be used in the adverts to identify these properties. The tenancy details will be explained to you if you are successful when you view the property.

Please think about these changes when bidding for an Affordable housing property and make sure you can afford the home that you choose.

This is what happened to the homes advertised in issue 338

MOVES ACROSS LONDON

The housingmoves scheme is run by the Greater London Authority and is aimed at social housing tenants who want to move from one part of London to another.

Priority is given to people who:

- have more bedrooms than they currently need
- want to move to be closer to employment or higher education
- need to provide care for family members or friends.

Tenants must have a clear rent account and no on-going record of anti- social behaviour.

Royal borough tenants can register on the scheme and bid for council or housing association property in other parts of London. To register your interest please visit:

and there are some really good players but everyone gets the point about standards. Football can bring people together but it can also be the cynical, money-driven sport we see so often in the other BPL, the Barclays Premier League. We're trying to put some integrity back into the game. "There's absolutely no money involved, no fees at all. As we seem to be stuck with austerity, why don't boroughs up and down the country just mark out pitches on parks and green spaces for people to get some enjoyment this summer? It's got to be better than civil unrest."

The Graft Dodgers are mostly freelance workers in various jobs. They include three players in their mid-30s who flirted with pro clubs in their teens but haven't played for 15 years or more.

Midfielder Ben Garrett, from Kidbrooke, said: "We wouldn't have got back into organised football with all the aggression and abuse of referees but this is totally different and we're really enjoying it."

"The atmosphere is totally different to the usual Sunday football and it's amazing how the players cope without a referee. We love playing again but it wouldn't have happened without this league."

The utopian league where sportsmanship reigns: no diving, no cards, and..

Oh my, NOT a referee!

OPPONENTS AS ONE: The Graft Dodgers (stripes) and Bill FC before their match on Blackheath

IT'S the summer football league where referees have nothing to fear because... there are no referees.

In a 2013 climate of million pound salaries, greedy agents and dives that would put Tom Daley to shame, the Blackheath People's League is a football utopia that lets players get their kicks for free.

It's a mantra of fair play on "free grass and fresh air", and the league is into the fifth week

by Peter Cordwell

of its first season. It already has seven teams with four more in the offing.

The brains behind the six-a-side competition on the heath is Stefan Imeson, (pictured right).

"We put up posters around the area and it took a while to take off but now the word is spreading fast," said 26-year-old Stefan, who sees the league as the start of a free football revolution. "Our teams soon enter into the spirit of the thing and some have come up with funny names like The Graft Dodgers and even Zonal Marxism.

"Some of us had played in local six-a-side centres but had to pay as much as £80 a game - and too often the atmosphere was hostile."

The people's league uses pitches marked out on Blackheath.

Posts or cricket stumps - and yes, coats - have been used for goals, but last Sunday shiny new goals were used.

"One team where everyone is working clubbed together for the goals, which is great," said Stefan. "My own team, Parcelona, is going to do the same because we're all working, but there's no pressure on anyone else to pay a penny.

"Grass and fresh air are free and these games have got a real sense of community. We don't need to pay for referees because the games are self-governed and the players treat each other as grown-ups.

"If we have a dispute over a free kick, throw-in or whatever one side or the other concedes. The football is competitive
